ARMY ENDS MITCHELL TESTIMONY

PETITION IS FILED FOR ANNEXATION OF ANNEX

Defense to Take Stand Tomorrow

Real Issue of Mitchell Trial Expected to Come Up Today
DEFENSE TO ASK DISMISSAL
Defense States That Commission Of Offense Has Not Been Proven

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—All the evidence on which the government based its charges against Colonel William Mitchell was laid before the court-martial trying Col. Mitchell today. The Army rested its case on the plain showing that two statements had been made by Col. Mitchell in which he assailed the administration of the Army and Navy Air service.

No evidence either oral or documentary that the statements were prejudicial to the service or caused disorder in the service was submitted. The court was asked to assume that the issuance of the statements was in violation of good order and military discipline.

Tomorrow Col. Mitchell's council will ask for the dismissal of the charges on the ground that the commission of an offense has not been proven by the evidence submitted.

The real battle on which the length of the trial may depend is expected to be fought tomorrow when Col. Mitchell's council will demand the right to prove that Col. Mitchell's charges made against the Army and Navy in the two statements are true.

This war veteran to be known as the Civilian General, will be extended a welcome from the city council and given the keys to the city.

Civilian General will officiate during the Legion celebration in place of the customary queen.

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 2.—Gasoline tax collections for the quarter just ended total $4,554,947.61, an increase of $291,357 over the previous quarter and a gain of $336,972 over the corresponding period of 1924. It was announced today by the State Board of Equalization.

DREDGING AT WHARF NO. 1 IS ORDERED

Bids calling for the removal of 180,000 yards of silt from the trunnion basin in front of the Richmond Municipal Wharf at a cost of approximately $45,000 were last night ordered by the city council to be opened by the city council at its meeting on November 23.

The plans and specification submitted by City Engineer E. A. Hoffman call for the dredging of the channel to its original depth of from 30 to 31 feet.

A portion of the silt will be pumped in rear of the wharf shed where the city now owns property of about seven acres. This property is now unavailable for use but when the silt has been deposited it is believed that it will raise the land high enough so that it can be used for storage space.

The work of the dredger in deepening the channel will in no way interfere with commerce at the wharf according to Hoffman.

Three Proposals Given On Barn

Three propositions to dispose of the barn at Fourth and Ripley, which has been before the city council for some time was submitted last night by J. A. McVittie, city manager. This matter had been put into the hands of the city manager a few weeks ago. According to McVittie, George Cushing, the owner has submitted the following propositions.

To paint the barn on the Ripley side and whitewash it on the Fourth street side and closing up all the holes.

If four or more houses are to be built in the neighborhood the barn will be removed without cost to the city.

The barn can be purchased for $1000, if the city wishes to remove it.

Removal of the barn has been sought on the plea that it is retarding the growth of the neighborhood. According to statements made at a recent meeting of the council that several people wish to build in the vicinity but would not do so on account of the barn. If these houses are to be built according to the report of McVittie the barn will be removed.

Two Road Contracts Are Let In County

Contracts totalling $73,909.66 were awarded yesterday for the improvement of highways in Contra Costa county.

Contract for construction of one mile of highway in Contra Costa county as a unit of the new district highway construction program across the Delta and to connect with the Sherman Island bridge, was awarded by the Contra Costa-Sacramento Joint Highway District to Kaiser Paving company on their bid of $54,671.01.

The Bloomberg Construction company of Stockton was the successful bidder for the contract for Road Improvement District No. 3, which embraces the construction of streets and highways in Kensington Park. The Bloomberg company was the lowest bidder of several and won the contract on an offer of $19,238.65, which was lower than the estimated cost of $22,594.37. W. S. Farley is the engineer.

SOME OF THE 17 U. S. NAVY PLANES WRECKED BY GALE AS THEY RODE AT ANCHOR IN RIVER NEAR BALTIMORE

Seventeen Martin torpedo planes were to participate in an aerial pageant preceding the Schneider Cup races near Baltimore but the day before the races the Patuxent River, in which they were moored, was swept by a 65-mile gale. All the planes dragged their 500 pound anchors, driven by wind and wave and were swept ashore. Seven planes were a total loss and the others were badly damaged.

CLOTHING STORE THREATENED BY SERIOUS FIRE

The Globe Clothing company, 702 Macdonald avenue owned by Paul Goldman, was seriously threatened with disaster at 2 p. m. yesterday when a fire broke out in the rear. The Richmond Fire department sent Engine companies No. 2 and No. 3, Chemical No. 1 and Truck No. 1 to the scene and the fire was put out before more than negligible damage could be done. The blaze was caused from hot ashes which were thrown into the yard in the rear of the store and which set the grass afire and spread to the building.

A number of other fires broke out yesterday but none of them caused any damage. They follow:

9:00 a. m. Grass fire at Yuba and Esmond avenues. Engine No. 4 detailed.

11:50 a. m. Small fire in the home of J. W. Slaten, 763 Thirtieth street. Engine No. 4 detailed.

3:30 p. m. Grass fire at Washington and Nicholl avenues. Engine No. 1 detailed.

Park Site Is Passed Upon By Association

The West Side Progressive Association went on record last night at a special meeting as favoring the location next to the Washington school for a city park site and passed a resolution requesting the city park commission to take the matter up with the city council.

John A. Miller, chairman of the park and playground commission, was in attendance and spoke favorably on the action of the association. He said that it was his opinion that this location is best suited for a park and declared that it would meet the favor of the rest of the commission.

Nystrom Park Plans Accepted

Tentative plans and specification for the Nystrom or South Richmond park and playground were last night accepted by the city council upon the recommendation of Mrs. J. H. Chandler, chairman of the Park and Playground committee of the council. Mrs. Chandler reported that the plan had been worked out by the committee from the council and the citizens committee.

The city clerk was instructed to have complete plans and specifications drawn up which will be presented to the city council at a future meeting for final action.

Watson Makes Hole in One At Carquinez

Robert Watson is walking about intely with his chest just a little expanded, and hat just a little too small for his head. But justly so. For who would not be proud of a hole in one.

That is the feat accomplished by Watson at the Carquinez golf club Sunday. Watson strode to the hole and the ball rolled into the hole as if by magic.

Watson declares that it was just his intention to make the hole with that single drive.

BUILDING OF WHARF NO. 2 STARTS SOON

Piling has been ordered and work on Wharf No. 2 on the Richmond Inner harbor will soon be under way, according to a report made at the meeting of the city council last night by City Engineer E. A. Hoffman. Hoffman stated that the estimate of piling originally made will be slightly exceeded because longer piling will be necessary. He stated that the front of the wharf will require 60 and 65 foot piles, while the back part will require piling 55 feet in length. This however, will not exceed the original estimate made on the wharf as the saving will be made in the construction of trestle bents. Only 2 trestle bents will be required instead of 10, as originally planned.

Service Station Permit Altered

The request of P. M. Sanford for alterations in the plans of a service station to be erected at Tenth and Bissell was granted last night by the city council. Sanford pointed out that due to the size of the lot and the type of building to be constructed it would be impossible to comply with the original request to set the building back twenty feet from the corner. Under the plans approved last night, the service station will be set back five feet from the corner. Dr. Carol Aronovici, city planning expert, recommended approval of the change in plans.

Suit was instituted in the Superior Court at Martinez yesterday by J. J. Gomez against A. J. Leonardo. Gomez is endeavoring to collect $500 that he claims is due from Leonardo.

ROW LOOMS ON SEWERAGE OF MIRA VISTA

An investigation will be made into the question of El Cerrito sewerage being run into Richmond main sewers by a committee appointed last night by the Richmond City council consisting of City Manager J. A. McVittie, City Engineer E. A. Hoffman and the sewer committee of the council.

According to a discussion held by the council before the investigation was ordered, the sewerage from the Mira Vista section is being run into the main sewer belonging to the city of Richmond on San Pablo Avenue.

It was pointed out that the manner in which this section is growing it will soon present a problem. According to the discussion no permission was ever received from the city of Richmond to connect the sewers from the section with the main sewer.

At the time the sewer question is taken up a discussion will also be held on fire protection for the section which is now being given by the city of Richmond.

County Grocers Invite Neighbors To Big Meeting

The Contra Costa Retail Grocers association will meet this evening at the Richmond club house, according to announcement made by E. T. Kelley, local grocer, who is vice-president of the association.

The Alameda, Marin and San Francisco county associations have been invited and after the business meeting a social evening will take place. A good entertainment has been arranged and this will be a general "get-together" night.

This is the third meeting of the Contra Costa Association since they were organized.

Smallpox Believed Under Control

A victory has been won in the threatened small-pox epidemic, according to reports received by Dr. C. R. Blake, city health commission. No new cases have been reported for the past week and the health department is to be congratulated on confining the disease to the school in which it originated. All cases of smallpox were in the Junior high school, those high school students who had the disease were in homes that had already been quarantined. Two new cases of diphtheria were reported yesterday.

Why Was the Wharf Shed Built Here

(INSTALLMENT NO. 17)
WHY A WHARF SHED?
That is a question that has been asked the RECORD-HERALD many times since the starting of the articles, concerning the conditions that surround the operation of the municipal wharf, and the monopoly that is enjoyed by the Richmond Terminal Corporation, at the expense of the taxpayers of Richmond.

At the time of the last harbor bond issue of $550,000, there was $400,000 provided for harbor work in conjunction with the federal government. At the instance of parties that additional room was needed in order to make the wharf pay (?), it being claimed that more room was necessary, the members of the council, after much reluctance, included $150,000 for what is generally termed a "wharf shed."

The members of the council were (Continued on Page 8)

Sewer District Divided Into Two Divisions

Upon the recommendation of city engineer E. A. Hoffman the city council last night adopted a resolution dividing the section which is to have new sewers installed in East Richmond into two sections. "The sections are to include all that section east of Twenty-third street and 2, all that section west of Twenty-third street."

Hoffman outlined to the council that the section which includes some 52,000 feet of new sewer could be most advantageously handled if plans and specifications were submitted with the section divided into two sections.

Under this plan two contracts could be awarded and could be worked on at the same time.

Following the adoption of the resolution Hoffman was instructed to draw up plans and specifications for the two divisions. The section east of Twenty-third street will call for approximately 31,000 feet of new sewer and the section west of Twenty-third street will call for approximately 21,000 feet.

Fire Damage Suit Date Is Fixed

MARTINEZ, Nov. 2.—Superior Judge A. B. McKinzie today set December 8 as the day of the trial of the two suits instituted by the Balfour-Cuthrie company and the California Wharf and Warehouse company against the Great Western Power Co.

The plaintiffs are seeking judgments totalling nearly $1,000,000 asked as a result of the fire losses suffered in 1924, when the grain warehouses of the plaintiffs were burned. The firms suing charge that the fire was due to defective transformer owned by the power company.

Funeral Ordinance Has First Reading

An ordinance prohibiting the interference with or cutting into funeral processions was given its first reading by the city council last night. This ordinance suggested several weeks ago by Councilman E. J. Garrard, makes it a misdemeanor to in any way interfere with a funeral cortege. The offense is punishable by a fine of $500 or six months in the county jail or both.

A letter was received by the council from H. J. Curry, commending it on its decision to approve and pass such an ordinance.

FINED FOR PARKING

Parking too close to a fire hydrant cost A. R. Kofick a fine of $5 in Police Judge C. A. Odell's court yesterday.

Annexation Approved by City Council

Fifteen Residents Sign Article Declaring Petitions To Be Circulated
RESOLUTION IS UNANIMOUS
Adoption by Council Precludes Calling of Election by Other Cities

Approval of the annexation of the Richmond Annex was last night adopted by the Richmond city council with a unanimous resolution. The resolution together with a petition signed by fifteen residents of the Annex requesting the annexation was submitted to the council last night.

This petition stated that the signers of the petition plan to circulate petitions in the district asking for the annexation of the section.

According to the committee of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce which is actively pushing the move for annexation this resolution of intention precludes the possibility of any other community filing petitions asking for the annexation of the section.

Petitions are now being circulated asking for annexation and will probably be presented at an early meeting of the council which will then be called upon to set a date for the election.

All of the merchants in Richmond, who are interested in the decorations, have been invited to attend the meeting and express their views.

According to the directors of the association every effort will be made to have the contract for the decorations awarded to a local contractor, provided the work can be satisfactorily done.

The type of decoration, their cost and the time they are to be put up, are to be discussed at the Monday night meeting.

FREEING THE PHILIPPINES

In view of the consistent agitation for the independence of the Philippines the contention, recently made public by George H. Fairchild, that congress has no power to grant independence to the islands, has come in for a great deal of attention and discussion.

The consensus of opinion seems to be that there is grave doubt whether such action by congress would be constitutional. There is no question that the United States has a good title to the Philippines. The islands had been held by Spain for centuries and were turned over to us by treaty for a consideration.

It is the contention of those who think the granting of independence would be unconstitutional, that sovereignty does not inhere in congress but in the people of the United States as a whole and that the farmers of the constitution never intended that congress should have the power of alienating territory belonging to the United States.

When the state of Virginia was ratifying the constitution, after its adoption, John Randolph declared in debate that "there is no power in the constitution to cede any part of the territories of the United States," and Thomas Jefferson is said to have accepted this doctrine.

The only way in which the Philippines could be given independence would be by an amendment to the constitution, according to the best legal opinion on the subject. That, of course, would have to come in the regular way and ratified by three-fourths of the states—a proceeding which would be very doubtful in this particular case. If a resolution for Philippine independence is ever voted in congress it will undoubtedly be attacked as unconstitutional.

Fanchon Finds Rest in Giving Dancing Lessons

Famous producer for the West Coast Theatres, Inc. which manages the California and Richmond Theatres here takes Pauline Starke through the steps of a new Charleston.

Famous Sister of Marco Now Seldom Seen in Public

Fanchon, the celebrated sister of Marco producer of the stage presentations for West Coast Theatres, Inc., is almost a myth to the average theatre goer. Marco is known, and seen, he is solid and a fact. But Fanchon, one reads her name everywhere but one never sees this girl again.

The name of Fanchon and Marco originated as a dancing team—later it was carried on when brother and sister produced their own musical comedies. When Marco signed with the West Coast Theatres, Inc., as director general of all their stage activities Fanchon settled in Los Angeles, she wanted to retire to the quiet of her home in Beverly Hills. But the great producers of motion pictures ruled otherwise—they would give her no rest, no surcease from theatrical activity.

Fanchon's latest motion picture activity is the staging of the theatrical sequence in Marion Davies latest picture, "Lights of Old Broadway," a story of New York in the late seventies, when Tony Pastor's theatre on Fourteenth street was the center of the theatre life of the great metropolis. Then, and it is a far step from the one to the other—Fanchon staged the glorious dance scenes in "The Merry Widow" which Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer produced with John Gilbert and Mae Murray in the leading roles and Eric Von Stroheim handling the megaphone.

Fanchon is the genius of stage direction, Marco the executive who stages the acts and secures the talent; truly a wonderful combination and the rarest pair of theatrical minds on the Pacific Coast today.

"Bobbed Hair"

A DAZZLING MYSTERY STORY BY TWENTY FAMOUS AUTHORS

Copyright 1924-25, P. P. Collier & Son Co. and G. P. Putnam's Sons "BOBBED HAIR" with Marie Prevost in a pictorialization of this story by Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

SYNOPSIS

It is within two hours of midnight, by which time Connamara Moore must let it be known whether she will marry Bingham Carrington or Saltonstall Cabot Adams. Bobbed hair will mean one, long tresses the other. But Connie has stolen out of Aunt Celi-mena's house, halted a passing car and notified the startled driver, "I think I'll go with you." The girl is dressed as a nun. Within the house is excitement, for failure to "announce" by midnight means to be disinherited by auntie.

"You can't go all the way in that." "Sad, isn't it?" he agreed. "But I hadn't thought of attempting it. I was planning to transfer in New York to a boat which sails tomorrow morning."

"Well," said the voice, "I'll be leaving you before that."

For a fleeting instant Lacy thought of all the tales he had heard about the wicked folk who ask you for a ride and who, just when you are obligingly speeding along the road, press sudden revolvers against your ribs and then make off with all your portable wealth. This apprehension had short shrift. For the potential brigand stepped forward into the light of his lamps and he saw he was talking with a Dominican nun. Her head was bent a little, so he could not see her face clearly, but he had a conviction—it must have been her voice, and the way she moved—that she was young, and probably beautiful.

"Excuse me," he murmured, in vague apology for a dozen unspoken thoughts, and helped her without more ado into the seat beside his own. They had been driving steadily for twenty minutes and were slackening their speed in a small snarl of traffic in the outskirts of Greenwich when they looked at each other and smiled.

"You are running away, aren't you?" he ventured.

"How long have you known that?" she asked.

"For quite a time back. But I didn't know how to address you. I don't yet. I practiced saying: 'Where are you going, Sister?' But it somehow sounded rowdy. And it don't feel rowdy. You see, I don't know much about nuns. Don't you all have Latin names? Like Sister Benedictine, or something like that?"

"Yes, something like that," she agreed, smiling. Then she added as an afterthought: "They call me Con Amore."

"Well, then, Sister Con Amore," he began, and lapsed at once into another silence. Out of his jumble of thoughts, several questions kept rising to the surface and lingering there unspoken. Wasn't Con Amore Italian, anyway? And why had he thought he wanted to go to Paris? And why—above all why—should the same slim and lovely person put on not only the white dismissive cloth of the Dominican nun, but also a perfume? It was a wicked and worldly perfume—a beckoning perfume.

"I hope you're not going to ask me any questions," she put in gently. "It is so pleasant to ride along in silence along the road that leads away from Trouble."

"I am glad," he said, "if that's what we are doing. To think that I drove past Trouble and never saw it in the darkness. I suppose I might have known?"

"How might you have known?" she asked, for she really did not care much about silence. "I had been told," he explained, "that it was not far from New York."

CHAPTER III

Lucia Bonifacio

It was a night filled with a sense of the imminent, one of those nights when the very air, for all its softness and the frail, trailing scent of syringa, was vibrant with the unexpected, the remote, possibly even the tragic. Even to Lacy, a man sophisticated, worldly, experienced as neither the boisterous Bing or the intellectual Adams was experienced, understood this. There was in him nothing of the primitive which colored the rude gestures and the passion of the Southerner, nor anything cold, fishlike, of the intellectual penetration which distinguished the Bostonian. He was, in short, a man who lived by his senses, without reflection, without worrying very profoundly about the reasons or the motives of any action. He took what came his way.

Now as he sat at the wheel of the purring Isotta-Franchini, with a perfumed and renegade nun by his side, his mind slowly turned over adventures of the past. One by one he recounted his conquests. . . . Not all of them perhaps, but at least the major ones—those which might have been underlined in red. . . . Blanquita, the Argentine dancer; place, London; time, in full season. Frau Sembacher; place, the Black Forest; time, late spring, harebells and columbines flowering among the black trunks of the trees, an elderly husband in the background taking the cure celebrated far and wide for its purgative qualities. The Honorable Mary Wallop, second daughter of Lord Squint, D. C. P., K. Y. B., a tall pale girl with gold hair, slightly married by the protruding teeth that were the mark of her direct descent from Oswald Scuintene, first baron who came over with William the Conqueror; time, late autumn; place, Vallombrosa; falling leaves strewn the brook, etc., etc. Yvonne (what was her other name?), to whose room he had climbed from balcony to balcony of a gaudy Venetian palace; time—he couldn't quite remember—probably in season. Nobody was in Venice at any other time of the year.

He had a head for detail, Mr. David Lacy. He began already to construct in his imagination the probable course of this present adventure. A nun, perfumed! This adventure resembled one of Casanova's. Yes, he could see already that it must be underlined in red. "Purr-purr," ran the motor, singing along beautifully. On either side of the road the marsh grass lay spangled with fireflies. The scent of syringa still clung to his companion, but with it there mingled another scent, more subtle, yet even more penetrating. What was it? Ah, mimosa, to be sure! The nun used mimosa perfume. Clever of her. None of these TNT perfumes called fair eau de Cologne or fair insupportable Mimosa. . . . Mimosa. . . . Of course; he'd overlooked one red-letter affair. . . . that one with the Princess Droscki Impermeable, at the Hotel Negresco. "The carburetor sounds better now," he observed presently.

"Yes," said the nun.

It must be said that the all-conquering Mr. Lacy was not entirely at his ease. He had talked to many women. Carrie Nation would have appalled him no more than Ninon de l'Enclos; but here was a nun! What did one say to a nun? Only once before had he been reduced to such a condition of helplessness. It was an American girl; at least the old dowager at the Ritz told him so. He had seen her beside the paddock at Auteuil, the day Haricot came in fourth and cost him fifty thousand francs; a girl, grave, beautiful, red-haired, calm among the painted courtesans and manikins at the race track. "American," Mrs. Murgatroyd had said, "from New England—stinking rich."

But what the devil was her name? Slowly there came over him once more the same feeling of mingled warmth and awe, the same sensation of being refreshed, of losing all sense of the cynical weariness which had enveloped him for so long.

However, it is apparently less dangerous to attempt to swim the English Channel than to beat a train to the crossing.—Des Moines Register.

A Modern Roman Road

REACHING into her distant corners were the Roman Empire's military roads, built that the couriers or armies of Caesar might have highways that were dependable.

Through the industrial heart of America—from New York to Chicago—a highway for the voice has just been dedicated to service, likewise designed to afford dependability to its travelers. This is the world's longest telephone cable which, buried beneath the streets of crowded cities, and elsewhere held aloft on heavy poles, now offers communication facilities that are practically free from the hazards of storms and other dangers.

In affording rapid and dependable transit to thoughts voiced every minute between great cities, it serves a large territory both alone and as part of a national wire system that is being further extended through cables in response to the people's need.

GIRL ESCAPES FROM REPORTED ABDUCTERS HERE

After searching the hills for hours early Sunday morning looking for a band of Mexicans said to have forcibly taken Florence Medina, of Oakland, from an automobile party in the vicinity of Winehaven and attacked her, police received word that the girl had escaped to a telephone, called a taxi and returned to her home. She was not harmed.

Raymond Carrill of Hayward and Tony Sanchez of Oakland, were riding with Miss Medina and Mabel Garvin also of Oakland, according to the police report, when their car was stalled near Winehaven. While repairs were being made the machine was surrounded by the gang, the men overpowered and the girl taken away.

An enjoyable week-end was spent by Justice and Mrs. John Roth at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Hastings in Santa Rosa. The Roths motored home yesterday morning.

Old World Culture Versus Democracy In Richmond Film

Old World culture pitted against new world democracy with a girl's heart weighing in the balance. This is the basis of the story of "Proud Flesh," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production directed by King Vidor, which opened at the Richmond theatre yesterday.

Eleanor Boardman gave a brilliant portrayal as the girl in the case, whose heart was torn between an American in overalls and a Spaniard in a dinner jacket. Pat O'Malley, as Patrick O'Malley, the American plumber, and Harrison Ford, as the suave Spaniard, made the contrast between the go-getter and the romantic aristocrat a source of merry delight.

The supporting cast includes Priscilla Bonner, Rosita Marstini, Sojin, Trizie Friganza, William J. Kelly, Evelyn Sherman, Margaret Seddon, George Nichols and Lillian Elliot.

Other features on the same program include "Half A Hero," Lloyd Hamilton's latest comedy scream; "Topics of the Day."

Coming Wednesday and Thursday, Norma Talmadge in the big stage hit "The Lady," by Martin Brown. A drama of mother love reaching from society's heights to poverty's depths.

POLA NEGRI IS STAR IN FILM AT CALIFORNIA

San Francisco and vicinity in 1856—the days when the discovery of gold in the hills attracted all manner of men from the four corners of the earth—the days when might was right and the quickest on the "draw" lived the longest.

Such is the scene of "Flower of Night," a Paramount picture starring Pola Negri which opened yesterday at the California Theatre.

POLA NEGRI IN THE PARAMOUNT PICTURE "FLOWER OF NIGHT"

at the California Theatre. Paul Bern directed the production, adapted for the screen from a story written especially for Miss Negri by Joseph Hergesheimer.

Pola, as Charlot Villalon, descendant of a royal Spanish family, falls in love with a young mine superintendent. The Flor de Noche mine had been wrested from Carlota's father by dishonest Americans and now one of them, thinking that by so doing he will win the girl, offers to help her regain possession of it.

The young superintendent, however, refuses to be ousted. There's a fight, during which the girl realizes the danger the man she loves is in, forgets all about getting the mine back for herself and goes to his aid.

The scenes that follow are among the most thrilling the screen has ever seen. Vigilantes arrive on the scene and straighten things out for all concerned.

There's a great cast playing in support of the star. Warner Oland, Helen Lee Worthing and Edwin J. Brady are but a few of the big names.

Other features on the same program include "Wings of the Fleet," made and sponsored by the United States Navy, showing scenes of the "cross-the-Pacific" flight planes, the ill-fated Shenandoah. It shows the various airplane carriers, important people of the Navy and a hundred other incidents that only the Navy could photograph; "Felix the Cat" comic; "Topics of the Day;" Larry Canelo, at the organ.

Delinquency Case Against Youths Is To Be Heard Today

The cases of Dan Hayes, 20, and Harry Mann, 18, who are under arrest charged with contributing to the delinquency of minors, yesterday were laid over until today by Justice of the Peace John Roth.

As the two youths are over 18 years of age, and under 21, they may either be certified to the juvenile court or be tried in the criminal court at the discretion of the district attorney. Deputy District Attorney Hiram Jacobs was not at the hearing yesterday, but will appear today and come to a decision as to what is to be done with the two men. Hayes and Mann were arrested Saturday morning, when they returned from an all-night motorcycle joyride about the county with two girls, one 14 and the other 15 years old.

The modern definition of the word "Nevertheless" will be given in the play bearing that name. There will be selections by the band under the direction of George Morris and several numbers by Mrs. L. Robinson's Boys' Glee club. The admission price is 25 cents and 35 cents and tickets may be secured from any student of the school.

Miss Matilda Meyer was the guest over the week-end of one of her dancing pupils, Miss Gwendolyn Mould of Concord.

Mardis Jailed Quinn Fined on Rum Charges

Joseph Quinn of Oakland was fined $500 by Police Judge C. A. Odell yesterday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of violating the Wright act. Charles Mardis of South Thirteenth street, was sent to the county jail for 400 days.

Mardis was arrested last July and fined $500 on a bootlegging charge. He paid $100 of the fine and Judge Odell withheld commitment on the remainder at that time. Authorities learned that Quinn had been supplying Mardis with liquor so the commitment was issued, when it was learned that Mardis had broken his promise not to violate the law the second time.

William E. West of El Cerrito is free on $500 bail while awaiting trial on a charge of illegal possession of liquor. He was arrested in Martinez Saturday when the county dry squad raided his home.

A new home has been purchased by Manuel Domingo at 150 South Thirteenth street. Domingo is a motorman for the Key System railway.

"THE FRESHMAN" IS COMING HERE

The grand climax of "The Freshman," bringing Harold Lloyd next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday to the California Theatre, is a football game which was actually staged at Berkeley in the mammoth stadium of the University of California just a few minutes before their team went into mighty conflict with Stanford. Eighty thousand rooting, cheering fans applauded the antics of Lloyd in what is said to be the most hilarious gridiron scrimmage ever screened.

NEW HOME ON MOUNT AVENUE

T. P. Bolger has been engaged to erect a $5000 home for Alice B. Fraser on Mount avenue, between Hughes and Humboldt streets, according to a permit issued by Inspector E. E. Grow yesterday.

A permit was also issued to King Yuen to remodel his laundry on Second street, near Macdonald avenue at a cost of $300.

Merchants Want To Know Who Can Wear This Shoe

By THE LOST NOMAD

Wandering aimlessly about the business section today we were startled to see an empty shoe skipping about the street. Thinking that it was a late Halloween prank and yet a good one we investigated. When we approached the shoe we were startled to see that the shoe without aid or help of any kind, was making its way toward the offices of the Merchant's Association in the New Syndicate building.

"How come," we queried.

"I'm only the Merchant's golf championship looking for the man that I will fit," the shoe answered.

as it continued its limping way toward the Merchant's Association office.

We followed it into the office and were informed by Marie Macdonald Jensen the secretary, that the Merchant's Association is making plans to find a home for the poor orphan shoe.

Fred Caudle and Ed. Crane have been appointed as a committee to find the person who can wear it.

Hardly had the news of the finding of the foundling been whispered about, when Ed. Huyck of the Rust Campbell company came to the front and announced that he would offer a dozen Del Monte Golf balls, Richmond's own, as the first prize in the tournament. His he states he will do so that the shoe may continue to haunt its old stamping grounds on some golf course.

The Carquinez Golf club course has been selected for the tournament. The professionals at the club will place the handicaps so that all will have a chance to adopt the orphan. Entries must be made before next Saturday.

A full announcement on the tournament as decided at yesterday's meeting of the Board of Directors of the Merchant's Association, will be sent to the membership in a letter.

SCOTLAND WINS SOCCER BATTLE FROM ENGLAND

Scotland and England met in their annual benefit soccer game for injured players at Jdora Park, Oakland, Sunday and the Scots, playing better football in every division walked off with the game 5 goals to 2.

Scotland presented her best team in years and displayed wonderful teamwork especially in the front line. Although the teams battled evenly during the first half, the play was mostly in English territory. England tried to rally in the beginning of the final period but were soon repulsed and swamped by the charging Highlanders.

Smith the Scott center, kept the fans in an uproar with his runs down the field and he was rewarded by sending in a shot which slipped past Logan into the net.

The two teams were picked from the cream of all the leagues in the bay region and they put up a strong fight at all times that kept interest at a high pitch in spite of the lopsided score.

Defendant In Golett Case Won by Auto

James Gough alleged to be the master mind in the Golett Oil swindle made an impression on Edwin F. Reeves because of the fact that he was traveling in a large automobile boasting a chauffeur. This fact was brought out yesterday in the testimony of the Golett case which is being tried in Judge Fred V. Wood's court in Oakland. Reeves is the last of the defendants to take the stand. The other defendants who are being defended by Pierce and Carlson local attorneys have already taken the stand. They are Mrs. Peggy Reeves, F. P. Davis and C. E. Peacock.

"This is Herbert Fleishacker's automobile, and Doherty has permitted me to work with Fleishacker on the Golett deal," Gough is alleged to have told Reeves according to the latter's testimony.

Reeves protested that he had not at any time known that the deal was not honest and above board. He testified that he first learned of the deal which was described as a big oil merger with E. L. Doherty the guiding hand, through Henry J. Held an employee of the Southern Pacific Company in San Francisco. Reeves stated that he had known Held for some time and that he had agreed to invest $25,000 in the National Egg Case Company of which Reeves is the president. This investment is said to have hinged on Held's successful investment in Golett stock. According to Reeves Held gave him $100 at that time to bind the deal.

Several months after that Reeves is said to have met Gough through Held and it was at this meeting that Gough took him for the automobile ride according to the testimony. Several months later according to the testimony Gough asked him to act as a "dummy" in whose name he could register oil stock in Mexico. It was at this time that Gough gave him all the details of the alleged proposed merger according to Reeves.

Dr. Edward R. Guinan has opened his complete new offices in the Old Fellow building on Tenth street. His rapidly growing practice demands these new spacious rooms.

Contra Costa County is quite close to the top of the list in the nine counties of the San Francisco Bay district, as far as property values are concerned. DANVILLE NOW HAS JAIL BREAK

DANVILLE, Nov. 2.—Edward Riley, 21, was lodged in the San Ramon Valley jail awaiting a trip to Martinez and a stay in the county jail. He evidently did not like his surroundings.

When Deputy Sheriff Ralph Harrison returned to take the prisoner to the county seat young Riley had vanished. There was nothing there but the calaboose. Authorities are searching for him.

Riley was arrested in connection with a wave of petty thievery in the San Ramon valley.

Governor Stops Rumors of Pardon For Miss Whitney

(By Universal Service)
SACRAMENTO, Nov. 2.—Asserting that he will not issue a pardon merely because of the appeals of the people, Governor Friend W. Richardson made the definite statement today that he had no intention of freeing Miss Charlotte Anita Whitney, Oakland social worker, sentenced to San Quentin under the state criminal syndicalism law and further declared that opponents of the syndicalism law should take their case to the legislature or the people.

The governor answered Upton Sinclair, the Pasadena author and lecturer who asked for the pardon of Miss Whitney in an open letter in which he declared his intention of enforcing all the laws in accordance with his oath of office and suggested that the opponents of the law bring their case before the voters.

The governor answered the appeal with the statement that the court had upheld the conviction of Miss Whitney and wealth had kept her out of prison for nearly six years.

Official Sentenced For Embezzlement

(By Universal Service)
CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Carl F. Muller, former cashier of Lodge No. 4 of the Order of Elks was today sentenced to serve from 1 to 20 years in Joliet on his conviction of embezzling $30,000 from the organization. Muller admitted the theft but stated that he had taken only $10,000. Officials declared that he had taken $30,000 however.

HEALTH CENTER HIGHLY PRAISED

A letter commending the Richmond Health Center for its work in Richmond, was received by the city council last night. The letter was high in praise for those conducting the Health Center and the service which was offered there, including the medical service.

Why Was Wharf Shed Built Here

told there was so much business at the municipal wharf, that it could not be taken care of and if they expected to get a proper return from the property, the wharf shed must be provided.

Out of the bond issue provided, through the liberality of the taxpayers, the wharf shed was built at a cost of $150,000. The wharf shed is quite a large structure being 120 feet in width, and nearly 500 feet in length, and is capable of storing large quantities of goods, and providing the City of Richmond quite a tidy revenue alone from warehousing fees.

The wharf shed has been in operation for about two years, and during that time it has been used but very little. The deficits still continue. Fullers earth has been kept in storage there by the Standard Oil company, on which it has paid storage fees, and this is practically the only revenue that has occurred to the City of Richmond from the wharf shed.

In other words, the operation of the wharf shed since its completion, has demonstrated the fact that there was really no necessity of the building being erected.

The interest alone on the money invested in the building amounts to $7,500 a year not taking into consideration maintenance, repairs, and the money that must be raised to redeem the bonds as they come due.

Another question that has been asked is "Why has there been no special effort made to fill the wharf shed with goods for storage, especially as the municipal wharf has advantages over practically any other place in the San Francisco bay area."

At the time the bonds were voted, there was considerable opposition and it was held at that time the wharf shed was not necessary. It would seem that experience has shown that the opposition was well founded.

Day by day, in every way, conditions at the municipal wharf, so far as the City of Richmond is concerned, are not getting better and better. Is it any wonder that the taxpayers of Richmond are asking the question, "WHY A WHARF SHED?"

Modern Woodmen Royal Neighbors To Give Dance

Final preparations have been made for the dance to be given by the drill teams of the Modern Woodmen of America and the Royal Neighbors of America of Richmond at East Shore Park on next Saturday night. The affair will be in the nature of a balloon carnival. Five hundred balloons will be hung up in the hall and each one will contain some prize. Fifteen of these prizes will be one dollar bills.

Members of Maple Camp, Royal Neighbors of America will go to Hayward today to attend the annual school of instruction and bi-county meeting of Alameda and Contra Costa counties. It was announced at the meeting in Memorial hall last night.

Following the business meeting, over which Oracle Sigma Lyons presided, a banquet was served and practice by the drill team was held under the supervision of Captain C. W. McCausland. The banquet was in charge of Mrs. Stella Johnson, Mrs. M. Beale and Mrs. J. O. Russell.

Veterans Council Will Meet Here

The Council of Administration of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Department of California and Nevada, will meet in Richmond during the month of November. It was announced by Veterans officials here last night. The exact date of the meeting will be announced within the next few days.

State Department Commander W. A. Levitt, Judge Advocate Paul Collins, Vice-Commander George Gregory of Nevada, State Department Adjutant J. H. Seigal will be among the many high officials of the organization in attendance, it was said.

The council of administration meets each month at some city in the state. Representatives of the organization from every part of the state of California and Nevada will be in Richmond on the day of the convocation.
